the mystery of the MISSING
vaccination!

Jayant was the kind Head of Dakshinpur.

Children loved him. So did the adults.

The village was full of happy faces. Everyone was healthy and happy. The people of the village worked hard. Had fun with family and friends.

But everything was about to change!

Far far away, a dusty wind blew across the lonely hills of GermGram.

Under a thin, hunched moon, the Virus Raja, walked and walked. Back and forth. His arms tied behind his back. A huge frown on his forehead.

Virus Raja was busy hatching evil plots. “I want to be the king of India!” he growled to himself.

“Virus Captain!” he screamed. “Give me an idea, AT ONCE! Or you die THIS MINUTE!”

Germ CAPTAIN shivered till all his bones rattled.

The Coronavirus Army quivered and shivered before him. The small virus spots became smaller and smaller.

But the next day, Germ Captain said, "I have an idea! sire!"

“Maharaja!
We viruses are small
No one can see us!
We silently get into a human body ...”

“Our friend, Corona Virus cannot be stopped in India! Only a vaccination can!

S'o?" boomed Virus Raja in his loud voice.

“India didn't have enough vaccines, Sire," said Captain, taking the liberty to grin.

And now ... we your Virus Army will

MAKE ALL ADULTS AFRAID OF THE VACCINATION!"

"We will whisper fear into the adults. So they hesitate to take their vaccination!"

“Aha!” said Tobakachi, his eyes shining.
“Start your work! Quick!"

The COVID ARMY!
Started their FEAR CAMPAIGN!

They whispered fear
into everyone's ears!

Many adults didn't go for their vaccination. They were soooo scared!

“when adults take their vaccination, all children are safe!” thought Tamasha, Jayant's friend.

All vaccination mysteriously

DISAPPEARED!

“Ahhhhh!” said Tobakachi, rubbing his hands together. “Look how these ignorant people are helping to spread our friend, Corono!”

So... The children came to Jayant. “Our parents are scared of the vaccination!” they said. “How do we fight the Virus Raja?” they cried.

Lachmi was the most fearless girl in Dakshinpur. She was kind. Loved to read. Everyone listened to her! Lachmi had an idea! A Vovid Hatao Campaign! Soon ... the village was abuzz

Dear Adults!

save!

Your children

please take your vaccination

for your child's safety!

The adults felt stronger listening to their children. "Yes! We'll take our vaccinations! We'll save our children!"

They all stood in line to take their vaccination!

It was so easy!! So very, very simple!

They were afraid no longer!

So when the Virus Army came they were in for a BIG, BIG surprise!

They took one look at all the happy faces of all the adults and children

Tobakachi and his Virus Army ran away quickly, as faaaaaaar as they could!

"Shabaash! Lachmi!
Shabaash! Dakshinpur!"
said Jayant, in his booming happy voice!

"But stay careful! Virus Raja can attack again!"
